

Your attempts to sway this election through propoganda does not serve the public interest. The truth should be your highest standard, not whether your side wins or loses. That attitude is cynical and does not represent democratic ideals.